TWO WALLS ARE BUILT

Two significant walls were built last year. One was constructed to restrict thought and freedom; the other was built to promote learning and democracy.

There is an ironic kinship between these walls. Built of the same kind of bricks, concrete, and mortar, both walls will affect history. The one may start World War III; the other may help to resolve it.

The wall built to sever the ties between West Berlin and East Germany isolates a democratic people in a sea of Communist ideology. The walls of Hazelwood are also walls of containment, but, unlike those in Berlin, are porous enough to allow a flood of free thought.

Past experiences form the ideas which are conceived before the actual drawing of your blueprint can be done. They act as preliminary guides in helping you to construct your future.

With the expansion of your ideas in high school, the actual drawing of your blueprint is begun. The lines must be plotted and coordinated carefully to produce a future which is firmly founded and well-balanced.

Graduation marks the completion of the blueprint and the beginning of the construction of your academic or vocational future.

ADMINISTRATORS STUDY

MR. CLIFFORD R. KIRBY
Superintendent

Facing the problems of an ever-expanding community, Mr. Kirby is unwilling to compromise high quality education for expediency. A continuous and well-balanced curriculum is his main objective in spite of his time-consuming job of planning for adequate facilities to guarantee top-level training.

Patrons and administrators in the Hazelwood School District have worked together to vote tax levies and pass bond issues so that a blueprint of curriculum and construction can be a reality. During the past year, the district has grown from the seventh largest school district in St. Louis County to the fifth largest with a total enrollment of 8200 students. Two new elementary schools have been occupied, 19 additional rooms at the Junior High School have been opened, and 30 new teaching stations are being added to the Senior High School. However, the population explosion is not over. It is expected that 12,000 students will be enrolled in 1963. Future plans already on the drafting board include the building of a new comprehensive senior high school, the conversion of the present high school into a second junior high, and the construction of another elementary school. To carry out such a challenging program, administrators must combine business acumen with educational background. The Hazelwood School District is fortunate to have this kind of professional leadership.

IT'S ALL A MATTER OF BUSINESS

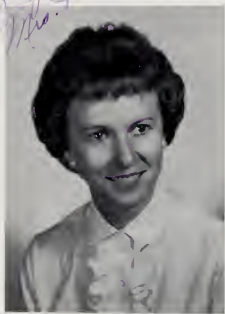

The Business Education Department has two main areas: non-vocational or general business information and vocational or skill training. The study of business subjects teaches a pupil the following: how business functions; how business applies to everyday life; how to successfully manage his own personal affairs, how to become a better citizen in the business world; how to become an intelligent producer and consumer; how to interpret business law; and how to understand his own aptitudes, abilities, and interests.

BLOCKS OF COMMUNICATION

Since the language-arts provide a more enriched life through the skills of communication, a Hazelwood student now must complete four years of English to graduate. Self-expression may be stimulated further through the study of speech, dramatics, debate, developmental reading, journalism, or one of three foreign languages, French, Spanish, or Latin. Classes have been limited to approximately 25 students so that more emphasis can be placed on writing and the critical interpretation of literature.

MATH LAYS FOUNDATIONS FOR LOGIC

Mathematics may not solve all the problems of existence, but it clears the jungle of fear and ignorance which breeds social evil, and it paves the road to a better tomorrow.

With six mathematics courses in the curriculum, the mathematically and scientifically minded student can lay a solid groundwork for a technical or professional future. He may study general mathematics, algebra I, algebra II, geometry, trigonometry, and solid geometry.

An understanding and appreciation for humanity is gained through the study of the social sciences. Such a study, be it history or modern problems, has no equal in training for active and intelligent citizenship in our community, nation, and the world. Never have we needed world understanding so much. With the historical scene shifting daily from Berlin to Laos, from the Congo to Cuba, and with the Khrushchevs, Castros, and Trujillos building walls of hate, the high school student must understand humanity in order to decide what is best for it.

THE SHOP IS NO LONGER A MAN'S WORLD

Both the girls enrolled in the home mechanics class and the boys taking the wood, metal, and electricity courses are quite proud of the well-equipped new wing that they call home. These students learn practical skills with which they become more competent to meet the demands of employment and homemaking. It is not necessarily the purpose of industrial arts classes to train a student to fill a particular job. Rather it is the purpose of these classes to build a broad background of knowledge with which, along with other knowledge, competences, and skills, any student becomes more able to function in our modern society. Perhaps the greatest value received from these courses is the acquisition of wholesome leisure-time interests and useful hobbies.

PHYSICAL FITNESS PROGRAM DEVELOPS SEVEN DIFFERENT SKILLS

During the month of November, the girls' physical education classes took their annual physical fitness tests. These tests are set up on national standards, and the results are compared with those of other countries.

The physical fitness test encompasses seven different skills: the shuttle run which determines skill in running and turning quickly, the standing-broad jump, a 600-yard walk-run race, situps, a softball throw, a 50-yard dash, and pull-ups which determine arm strength.

Archery has become a favorite sport among the girls. Melva Schroeder, Janet Norris, and Mary Lou Bahr practice their marksmanship.

Art, according to the dictionary, is the application of skill and taste to the production of things of beauty. To a hungry man, a broiled steak and a deep-dish apple pie are things of beauty; to a fashion-conscious young miss, a well-tailored light wool suit or a fluffy pink formal are lovely to look at. To the aesthete, a landscape, a design, or a portrait bring deep satisfaction. Participation in either home economics courses or art classes encourages creativity and makes us sensitive to our surroundings.

OUR MUSIC REFLECTS THE TEMPO OF OUR TIMES

A new choir room equipped with concrete risers and acoustical tile and a refurbished band room give our Music Department much to sing about. In spite of having to share a rehearsal room with the basketball team, the choral groups made beautiful music together. Quartets, quintets, and sextets, in both the band and the choir, became integral parts of each organization and performed at special musical programs throughout the year. Serious music students receive training in basic techniques which become the foundation for further training. Others, who take music more lightly, find gratification in just creating harmony. In addition to chorus and band, students may take allied arts and fundamentals of music.

Charles Linne Meyer, James Price, Charles Rowland, Ronnie Agnew, and Tom Esklor, the band's quintet, rehearse for the annual Spring Festival.

IN BOYS' PHYS ED

Boys at Hazelwood prepare for the space-man age by participation in a well-rounded physical education program. They know by straining their muscles now in calisthenics, organized team sports, individual sports, and in interscholastic activities that they are anticipating an active, competitive, and physically-fit life.

Recognizing that most teenagers either use the family car or drive a car of their own, Hazelwood offers Drivers' Training to all qualified sophomores who want it. By practicing and learning the rules of the road, a teenager will be a more cautious and careful driver.

Nobody is going to win this race as Leland Hill and Harry York run in place for five minutes before they take to the field for some touch football.

SCHOOL POLICIES

Through elected representatives, the Student Council has endeavored to promote an efficient, coordinated group for all student activities and to provide a medium for student expression.

The Student Council supervised student elections in an efficient manner and encouraged more participation on the part of the students. One major change was affected during the past year. As the result of an all-school election, court participation has been limited to one a year, excluding the Junior-Senior Prom. Members of the Council sponsored the Fall Mixer, Homecoming Weekend, the Christmas Dance, Turnabout Day, and the All-School Picnic. The meetings are held on the first and third Wednesdays.

In retrospect, "a job well done" is the commendation to all Student Council representatives. They act as the directing force for all student activity and have served as the most important link between the administration and the student body.

To lend a festive air to the Homecoming celebrations, members of the Student Council decoration committee enclosed the gym with miles of colored paper streamers. On top of the scaffold are Charlotte DeBell and John Lively. Chester Dickey, LaRaye Brown, and Sandy Spellazza do the ground-work.

The Hawk speaks through the HAWK TALK, its monthly newspaper, and through the TORCH, its yearbook. The staffs for both publications consist of members of the journalism class. Mary Jo Hickey served as editor of the 1962 Torch, and a revolving editorship supervised the publishing of the newspaper. In addition to the dissemination of school news and the establishment of good student relationship, the two publications provide laboratory experience for the practice of scholastic journalistic techniques.

From several hundred candid snapshots taken, only those pictures which best describe a school event are used. Pictures not used are sold at the Fall Torch Mixer.

Deadline to Hawk Talk reporters means retyping copy, making up page layout, cutting stories, and finding fillers. Later proof will be read at the printer's.

PEP CLUB CHEERS REACH

Of course, the Pep Club had much to cheer about this year with the Varsity Basketball Team winning the Jennings and Regional Tournaments, being Conference Champs, and going to State.

Because of a smaller school enrollment, Pep Club membership dropped to 500. However, records show that a more consistent following of fans attended more home games and away games than in any previous year. This loyal group earned a higher percentage of awards than any membership since the club was formed. Eight members earned three-year awards, 28 won two-year awards, and 47 received first-year awards.

The Pep Club joined with the Lettermen in climaxing the winter sports season by sponsoring the costumed "Roaring Twenties," a fun-filled evening of dancing and vaudeville.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS

ALL-TIME HIGH

The job of the varsity cheerleader is not an easy one. These eight girls, Madeline Gentle, LaRaye Brown, Jean Studebaker, Nancy Niehaus, Pat Coleman, Dee Priemeyer, Judy Sease, and Barb Walchshauer, backed up their team, both at home and away, at all football games, basketball games, and wrestling matches in addition to practicing once a week.

Sponsors Mr. Wright and Miss Williams with Pep Club officers Paultette Lohmann, Mary Jo Hickey, Morris Weseloh, and Dennis Musgraves.

SOCIAL LIFE

The beauty that reigned at the Homecoming dance is shown here in the picture of the royal queen with her maids. Surrounding this year's queen Nancy Niehaus are her maids Nancy Moss, Joan Beiter, Retiring Queen Barbara Boaz, Pam Ploudre, Judy Sease, and Jean Studebaker. This delightful evening of dancing brought our victorious Homecoming Weekend to a memorable close.

It's a thrilling moment for Queen Nancy Niehaus as Joe Ungerer places the royal robe on her shoulders.

"Let's Lick Pattonville," was the theme used by Glenda Sumpter and Dan Cogan in decorating their first-prize winning car. This prophetic slogan was later carried out by the Hawk Eleven.

HOMECOMING WEEKEND ACTIVITIES

A tie for second place was awarded to Terry Lich, Paullette Lohmann, Kenny Gummels, and Marilyn Husted.

Second place tie was also awarded to Steve Vossmeier, Judy Oberjuege, Gary Coyne, Jerry Povis, and Bob Coyne for their colorful and gaily decorated car.

As John Davis burns the Pattonville dummy in effigy at the Pep Club bonfire, Hazelwood's victorious Homecoming Weekend gets under way.

'YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU' IS

The Junior-Senior Play, "You Can't Take It With You," a three-act comedy by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, was a tremendous success when presented November 16-17.

The theme of the play revolves about the activities of a family who believes in doing only what it enjoys doing.

With Mrs. Dailey and Mrs. Hollander directing, and cooperative stage, publicity, and costume crews assisting, the capable cast played to full houses both nights.

MEMBERS OF THE CAST

Penelope Sycamore	Liz Deitrick

Mr. DePinna (Don Thornton) is willing to sacrifice everything for art, even his clothes, as he poses as a Greek torch bearer.

Nancy Niehaus as Essie shows determination and patience as she receives a ballet lesson from beatnik and bearded Tom Alston, her dancing teacher for the past seven years.

SHOW BIZ AT ITS BEST

Olga, the Grand Duchess, played by Hilda Dowling, meets Mrs. Sycamore (Liz Deitrick).

Lavonne Leroux and Bob Coyne, members of the property committee, adjust the special effect lighting for the opening scene.

"Death and taxes are inevitable," says tax collector Dan Busdeicker as he tries to convince Martin Vanderhoff (Mike Parks) and other members of the household that they are not exempt.

THE TWENTIES ROAR FOR PEP CLUB AND LETTERMEN

In the Roaring Twenties costume competition, Liz Dietrick and Kirk Noyes won first place.

Heading an all-star talent and floor show, Mary Jane Leonard and Steve Norton were talent contest winners with their version of the Charleston.

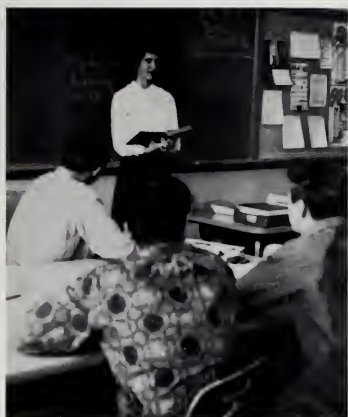

Typical of the many authentic costumes of the Twenties were the college blazer and raccoon coat worn by Jerry Sibley and the fringed flapper dress of Pat Haley.

NEW LOOK IN CLASSROOM ON TURNABOUT DAY

Bill Ovca, senior, confers with Mr. Woods about lesson plans for the physics classes he will teach on Turnabout Day.

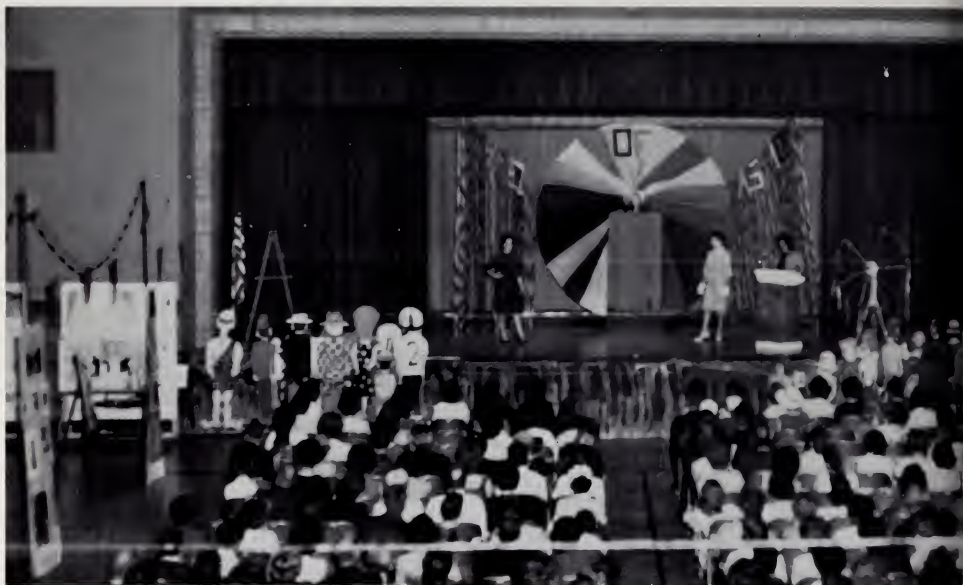

With all the poise of the experienced teacher, Nina Lesh leads her English III class in the study of "The Vision of Sir Launfal."

After much research, Judy Lockhart was able to give a detailed explanation of the many varieties of orchids when she took over Mr. Wright's biology classes for the day.

"This is the only time teachers get a break," says Dan Cogan as he relaxes over a coke before returning to the drafting class he is teaching for Mr. Goodridge.

Everyone gathered around, either out of curiosity or astonishment, when Mr. Rhea and Mrs. Buckles joined the rock 'n' rollers at the Sock Hop after the Pattonville game.

If Gary Rueter (hiding under the dunce cap) represents the highest-ranking senior in the National Merit Scholarship Tests, what is the younger generation coming to?

MISCHIEF IN US

Kathy Howard shows she isn't afraid to wear an "itsy bitsy, teeny-weeny, polka-dot bikini" when she modeled in one of the skits at the Art Festival.

Jan Ballard and Barb Walchshauser each make a grab for the catsup, while Diane Pontius, Dave Schramm, and John Lively enjoy fried chicken at the all-school picnic.

G.A.A. ROSTER SHOWS 168 MEMBERS

An extracurricular activity so popular that 168 sports-minded girls stayed after school to participate, the Girls' Athletic Association offered a three-fold intramural program: archery, basketball, and volleyball.

Members of the class basketball teams were chosen for their ability and skill. Other participants formed a Hound Dog League and teamed up for a tournament. All girls who went out for volleyball were placed on teams. Class teams then were selected from tournament play. Archery involved individual participation.

Comfortable but concentrating are Jim Hunt and Rich Twillman during the Ohio Psychological Test.

(Right) Steve Vossmeier "teases" Sandy Spellazza as he arranges her hair in the newest of the high-fashion bouffants.

The moment finally came when the envelopes were ripped open and the seniors wore their very own rings for the very first time.

CLASS OF 1962

Michael Parks, a class speaker, chose as his subject, "Today's Challenge."

Paulette Lohmann, also a class speaker, expressed her thoughts on "Our Appreciation."

'OUR BEST TODAY FOR A BETTER TOMORROW'

Students selected in their senior year for membership in the National Honor Society were Joyce Bachman, Joyce Gross, Sharon Thomas, Jan Engle, Connie Hall, and Joyce Quinley.

Graduation exercises for the Class of 1962 were held in the Hazelwood High School Auditorium at 8 p.m., June 1. Mr. Francis C. Huss, principal, presented the class to Mr. Howard F. Gamble, president of the Board of Education, who awarded the diplomas. The Reverend Robert Deckert of the Charbonnier Methodist Church gave the invocation and benediction.

Class sponsors were Miss Lenore B. Hitt, Mr. James E. Hollinseed, Mr. George O'Hara, Mrs. Rose Dean, Mr. Richard Rauch, and Mrs. Edna Humphrey.
